The heaviest voting period was letween 4 o'clock and 7 o'clock, at which hour the polls closed. At nearly every precinct a long line of voters was formed. Some of the voters had to stand in line for an hour before their turns came.

Under the law, every voter who was in line at 7 o'clock had the right to vote. At Lincoln school, it was 7:50 o'clock before the last of those in line had voted.

In the Ross street precinct a rapid method of counting was evolved. The six election officers divided themselves into three groups.

Two Names at Time.

Each group placed forty tickets in a pile. These tickets were run through rapidly, taking two names on the ballot at a time. One of the group to himself counted the number of votes received by the name assigned to him. The totals thus made were set down on a sheet of paper, and later were assembled into the totals for the precinct.

sembled into the totals for the precinct.

The election board at precinct No. 6 (high school) adopted the same method of counting as did the Ross street precinct board. City Clerk Ed Vegely discovered this fact at midnight and went to the politing place and had the board start the count over again. He pointed out that counting in such a manner might invalidate the count or make it necessary for an official revolut of the precinct. The board completed its check at 6 a. m. loday.

Were it possible for the vote cast in the Ross street precinct to change any of the final results, there would be opportunity to contest the vote, it was said at the city hall today. All winners, however, have such leads that a recount of the vote will not be sought, it is believed.

The total vote cast was 4346, or 47 per cent of the registration.

Precinct No. 3 (Lincoln school) cast 755 votes and No. 6 (high school), cast 740 votes. These were the highest votes by precincts.

in the East.

The cause of the present great housing shortage, which is proving such a snag to the Bonar Law government, is plainly shown in London, where the number of families has increased in ten years 9.5 per cent while the houses increased only 4.1 per cent. Statistics show that 335,443 families in London are housed in dwellings containing three or more families each and 18.1 per cent in dwellings three rooms or less. Although the number of families per occupied dwelling increased 1.51 in 1911 to 1.58 in 1921, the average number of rooms per family increased because the average size of the families decreased.

cause the average size of the families decreased.

Density Varies Greatly

The density of the population in various sections of London varies between seventeen an acre in some of the outlying and relatively under-populated district of all. The census shows that London commuters are increasing, the population in the business districts, is dwindling, while the boroughs around the fringes of the country, where there is fresh air and some grass, are gaining. What is known as the "City"—old London, which still has the same limits as at the time of the great fire in 1666, and which now forms the great commercial center—has lost in population, and thirteen inner metropolitan boroughs likewise show decreases ranging from 11 to 14 per cent. Fifteen outer boroughs, on the other hand, show increases ranging from 5 to 16 per cent: And London keeps growing.

These specifications for purchase are now being called for by many state and municipal agencies and by business corporations throughout the country. Their value to the business man has been found in the fact that his business contact is simplified by having a good and common standard for a large number of his purchases. The importance of this work to American business, according to those who are working to have the specifications for pur-

No need to say, "I wish I dared"

How often have you heard the expression. "I can't drink coffee; it doesn't agree with me!" Yet there is an undeniable satisfaction in having a hot drink with meals.

Postum supplies satisfaction and safety, both. No need to deny yourself the pleasure of this fragrant, invigorating cup through fear of nervous disturbance afterward. Postum is rich and comforting, and there's nothing in it that can harm anybody.

Why not follow the example of the thousands who have left off the risks of coffee, for the assured satisfaction and safety of Postum?

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.

CINCINNATI, April 10.—Jim Roberts, a big, husky pitcher, who is trying for a berth on the Cin-cinnati staff, has a fine chance to come through if precedent means

Johnny Couch, who had a big year in 1922, and who by his great work kept the Reds in the race during the early part of the season, had his first big league opportunity with Detroit and was sent

George Harper, who, the Reds say, is one of the best hitters in the National League, was carried for a couple of seasons by Jennings when he was in charge of Detroit, but finally turned loose as lacking big league class.

Cobb, when he played in the Winter Coast League, was favorably impressed by Caveney, who starred at short for the Reds last year. He offered a fancy price for him but finally decided Caveney wasn't worth the money asked and quit bidding in favor of the Reds. Ball players, always supersittious, are inclined to feel that Roberts' failure to make good at Detroit means that he will surely deliver for Cincinnati.

There is Willie Hoppe, the billiard champion. Hoppe is a baseball enthusiast and would much prefer to be Ty Cobb rather than Willie Hoppe as far as the sport world is concerned.

Last season Ruth weighed 235 pounds, but now the waistline has been reduced at least six inches, and the bay window that once announced the approach of the Babe is now constituously missing.

Hoppe is a right good ball aver and might have starred at the national pastime. He devel-shape today than I have ever seen the national pastime. He developed skill in billiards at such an early age, however, that baseball necessarily was sidetracked. In billiards the hand is the essential thing, perfect fingers. Nothing is harder on the fingers than baseball.

Then Hoppe has another reason for wishing he was a baseball star rather than a billiard expert. Any outdoor sport makes for better health, in addition to the fame and compensation that naturally follows. Billiards does not make for better health, since it must be played in a room that has a high even temperature.

I am of the opinion that Ruth's comeback depends on something more than mere condition. Psychology is going to play an even greater part.

If Ruth gets away to a good that has a high even temperature.

Hoppe, in order to keep healthy, indulges in a daily systematic course of sprouts and is also mighty careful as to his diet. While Hoppe is quite content to be regarded as the world's greatest billiard player, he would much prefer to be regarded as the greatest star of baseball.

While a majority of the golf professionals are strong for baseball, most of the star ball players are equally strong for golf. Babe Ruth would like to be able to hit them like Sarazen, Walter Hagen or Jock Hutchison, while the golfers all marvel at the way the Babe knocks them out of the lot.

BY BILLY EVANS

NEW ORLEANS, Ia., April 10 .-Can Babe Ruth come back? At esent the demon swatter is the stion mark of baseball.

For several days I have been giving the "Sultan of Swat" the once over, the up and down, trying to decide that very question.

If the hitting of home runs merely depends upon condition. Buth ly depends upon condition, Ruth has a great chance to win back the fame and glory that was his lar favor.

Must Regain Confidence

Mob psychology is going to enter into the affair to a great extent.

In a sense, Ruth has lost confidence in himself. Once that was

In a sense, Ruth has lost confidence in himself. Once that was his greatest asset.

Ruth, when he was breaking home-run records, feared no pitcher, they all looked alike to him. Every pitcher had a wholesome respect for Ruth. He was the big threat.

That condition has been changed. Ruth's fealure of last year has caused the pitchers to lose much of the respect they once had for Babe's batting prowess. Ruth looks no different than the other good hitters. No longer is he looked on as a super-batsman. That makes a difference.

Ruth has won back condition. Now if he can get the fans with him, American League pitchers may once more tremble when he steps in the batter's box.

the McKinley grammar school teachers' team 22 to 5 in the basketball game played in the gymnasium of the Santa Ana high school here last night.

The game was hotly contested. In the first period, the business girls gained only a two point lead, which they increased to a 14 to 4 score in the second third. In the third and final period, the business girls continued their scoring streak, ending the game 22 to 5.

Despite the fact that the game had been postponed from week to week on account of injuries to players in practice games, a good attendance on the sidelines encouraged the combatants. City politicians, anxiously awaiting election returns, took time off to visit the high school gymnasium to cheer their favorites.

This high record in the quantity and value of our raisin exports, says the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York, is especially interesting in view of the fact that the other great raisin field of the world, the Levant has recently resumed its contributions to the world market. Prior to the war, the area fronting the world raisin markets, espe-cially those of Europe. With the reduction in agricultural activities in that area during the war, pro duction was greatly minimized, and raisins from the United States were largely imported by Europe and in some cases supplied to their troops in the field, and the world thus came to know the

With the return of the Levant to raisin production and exportation, however, our exports fell to 58,000,000 pounds in 1920 and 33,000,000 in our short crop year 1921. With the high record of production of 1922, however, which is materially in excess of any earlier year, our exports for the current fiscal year seem likely to equal the high record of 110,000,000 pounds in the calendar year 1919, in which the Levant had not yet re-entered the world markets.

The raisin is a comparatively new factor in our export trade. It was only in 1898 that the quantity exported was of sufficient importance to obtain a place in the export records of the government, and the total exports of that year amounted to only 3,000,000 pounds, advancing to 5½ million in 1908, 56,000,000 in 1918, and 110,000,000 in 1919 in 1919.

It is due, however, to the growth in home demand that the raisin industry of California our chief raisin producer, has so rapidly developed. The total production of raisins in California was in 1913 130,00,000 pounds, in 1919 360,000,000, and in 1922 450,000,000, and we are now producing more than one-half of the raisins of the world. About four-fifths of this big production is consumed in the United States. Of the 3,000,000,000 pounds produced in the past dec-United States. Of the 3,000,000,000 pounds produced in the past decade, 17 per cent was exported and the remaining 83 per cent consumed at home. Great Britain is the largest single buyer of American raisins, our total exports to that country in 1922 having been 44,000,000 pounds against only 5,000,000 in 1921. Canada ranks next to Great Britain in the takings of American raisins, in 1922, her total for that year being 29,000,000 pounds. Japan has suddenly developed a taste for American raisins, exports to that country in 1922 totaling something over 4,000,000 pounds as against 2,000,000 in the preceding year. Paul Grimm, alias Frank Lytle, leclared by officers to be Califored at San Bernardino, who was said to have confessed to defrauding banks of nearly $60,000 during the past year, was identified by Joseph Metzgar, assistant cashier of the Farmers and Merchants' bank here, as the man whose operations cost financial institutions in the city $4,000. He and Sheriff Sam Jernigan went to San Bernardino for that purpose.

Metzgar, who had returned here today, explained how he came to be positive in his identification of the man.

In his dealings with Grimm, when the latter had an account with the bank here, Grimm be came angered as some turn of af-fairs, and left an indelible impres-sion on the mind of the assistant

According to Deputy Sheriff Her-man Zabel, who issued circulars for the arrest of the man, Grimm came into Santa Ana in September, 1921 and opened accounts in every bank but one. In January, after he had established himself with bank officials, he deposited large checks, drawn on foreign banks, and then before they could be returned, he would withdraw money, which in this instance totaled $4,000, it was TUSTIN, April 10. — Calvin "Butch" Lambert, of Tustin, winner of the first hill climb ever held at Capistrano, and the first man ever over the hill, gained further laurels Sunday when he won the honor of being the first man to ride a four-cylinder motor-cycle over the hill. This was the first attempt of Mr. Lambert to ride a motorcycle for several years, and, although he won no prizes, it is understood that the factory which he represented is well satisfied with the way in which he handled the motor.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, 10.-The widening of Fifth street twenty feet will be completed within ninety days City Attorney Lou Blodget told the city trustees at their meeting last night at which time W. J. Elliott, representing the property owners of that street, appeared and inquired as to why the work had been alas to why the work had been allowed to drag over so long a time. It was explained by the city attorney that each property owner in the district had to be served with a personal summons and there were other legal steps which had been responsible for the time consumed in the work.

The trustees filed a request, from the local lodge of Moose asking for the use of the auditorium on the night of the formal opening. The American Legion had a similar request before the trustees sometime age but no decision was sometime ago but no decision was reached in the matter. F. C. EVENING SALUTATION It is the mind that makes the man, and our vigor is in our immortal soul.

THE CHARTER NEXT

Now that the city election is over, let us turn our attention earnestly to the charter election, which is to be held one week from tomorrow.

There is a big and important question to be presented to the people of Santa Ana on that day. It sented to the people of Santa Ana on that day. It is a question that ought not to be decided in an off-hand way. It is one that takes serious thought and the facts as they know them.

The established way, which is to have the author-consideration.

Much has already been presented in the way of argument for and against the charter. Let us have more of it. The Register believes in thorough discussion, and whether the charter is carried or is defeated we will be better citizens for having closely tudied the form of our city government.

The Register believes the charter should be carried. It believes in the city manager form of government. It believes that the charter is a business document, and that city government under the charter will be more nearly a business government than is possible under the state statutes that now control our city government.

We are earnest and sincere in this belief, but while editorially The Register proposes to urge its viewpoint, the columns of this newspaper are open to discussion by those who do not see this important matter in the same light as we do.

HOME-OWNING AND CITIZENSHIP

"A home on almost any terms is better than rent. A home owner is a taxpayer, and therefore a more deliberate and discriminating voter. A me owner is a better employe, a better husband, a better father, and a better and more useful citizen of the community in all respects. Bolshevism and radicalism would be inconceivable even here with only a little more than a third owning their own homes. And our community welfare and future are rendered more secure in direct proportion to the increase in home ownership. It is as much a part of our duty as citizens to promote home ownership as it is to promote good schooling for the young. And financing the average man into his home is the best and most direct means of promoting

This opinion was expressed by Harry F. Hossack before the members of the real estate class of the University of Southern California.

And in that paragraph Mr. Hossack said a great deal. In these few sentences he has expressed fundamental truths clearly and forcefully.

Every resident of Santa Ana should read the paragraph, and give it thought.

True, Santa Ana has been frequently described as a "city of home-owned homes." True, a large proportion of the residents of this city own their homes. Probably no city in Southern California can show as

A SANE FOURTH

The "sane Fourth" which was considered pretty well established a few years ago has been going to pieces. The trouble comes from the fact that the reform has been confined to city ordinances, and that there has been no uniformity about it. Cities with the results of the present of the presen laws for the protection of life and limb are finding that their efforts are futile, because thoughtless citizens or children simply go to an adjoining town for their noisy and dangerous fireworks, or buy them right outside of the city limits. Often the contraband stuff is offered for sale on the rural highways.

Thus the old orgy of noise, fire, mutilation and death, according to word from the East, is threatendeath, according to word from the East, is threatening once more to make the Glorious Fourth a day of terror instead of what it should be, a day of harm-world may find extenuating circumstances in this less enjoyment and rational observance of the na- State's avowed pride in Dr. Elwood Mead, professo this evil and accomplish the original purpose of the reform by means of laws establishing a state-wide prohibition of fireworks. There does not seem to be any other way to protect children from the remainder of the countries, when his invaluable advice and counsel are imperatively needed in other States and other countries, we are glad to lend him temporarily in the interest of mankind in general, but we want it distinctly understood that he belongs to us when he is at home any other way to protect children from themselves and protect the more sensible citizens from those whose idea of a good time is to raise as big a displicate the work done by the California man in the control of the work done by the con

English coal is being shipped to Boston. At the same time American coal is being shipped to Italy.

A business authority speaks of this as a good instance of the "economic maladjustment" existing in the world, as a result of the war.

There was a great deal of lost motion in industry and trade before the war, and there is a great deal of it still in fields where the war cannot be held responsible.

The instances mentioned only show nations doing, on a big scale, what is done in every city where milkmen from the east deliver milk across town to the west end, and milkmen from the west deliver it the west end, and milkmen from the west deliver it to the east end. It is being done on a vast scale by shipping the same kind of goods backward and forward between cities and sections, instead of each community using the goods produced at home.

Billions of dollars may be wasted in this way, partly because people usually imagine that the same thing is better if it comes from a distance.

NO WAR REFERENDUM

A resolution in the Nebraska legislature, in favor of forbidding declarations of war except after approval in a national referendum, has been voted down by a large majority. Similar action is to be expected in any other legislature where the subject is given calm and thoughtful consideration.

The proposal to declare war only by popular referendum had its origin in a righteous revulsion against needless warfare, but has represented emotion rather than practical sense. When there is a fire in the next block, threatening to leap across the street, the residents of the threatened block do not call a meeting and take a vote on whether they should do anything about it. They call the fire department. If war was always a matter of deliberate decision depending wholly on the will of the nation concerned the referendum would be an excellent thing. But when a nation is attacked, there may be no time for such deliberate procedure and no chance for the ity for a war declaration vested in President and

Postal Emergency

A correspondent on this page writes of inadequate service given by the postoffice in Fresno, on certain occasions, this last week.

Postmaster Turner pleads guilty, and asks for mercy.

The postal department at Washington has declared an emergency. It has radically reduced help in every postoffice in the United States. It has sent out inspectors calling for reports that will permit the reduction of service "to the bone." It has called on the loyalty of postal employes everywhere, to work, without overtime pay, on special hours for the accommodation of the public. It has declared that if the most rigid economy is not practiced, the entire funds of the department will be when the fiscal exhausted long before June 30, when the fiscal year ends. The allowance made by Congress a year ago, for the current 12 months, has proven quite inadequate. There has been a "boom" on in business everywhere, especially in the East. Here in Fresno, the amount of mail handled in the first quarter of 1923, has been a fifth greater than during the same period of 1922. And the Congress that fixed the appropriations for the current postal year acted under a burst of economy that said money must be

It will be saved, partly in greater work and more accommodating work by the postal employes, partly in greatly reduced efficiency of postoffices, and in some cities, it is reported, by actual supplementing of local postal service by funds supplied by local business organizations. We in Fresno are by no means as badly off as in other cities. But we must be patient with a situation that is national, not local, discovering that it is a part of the failure of ambitious service and ambitious economy to fit together, with the normal and usual demands of

For instance, the Fresno postoffice is reduced to a point where every man's time in all the depart-ments is made to fight against the piling up of postal business. If a man gets sick, and three were tal pusiness. If a man gets sick, and three were sick in one day this past week, then some part of the service must suffer. And in some respects it must suffer entirely irrespective of the wishes of the men to work harder for the public. Civil service rules govern many of these questions.

Death of Lord Carnaryon will be mourned universally. His discoveries in the tomb of King Tutankhamen, one of the powerful Pharaohs of Egypt, were the most notable archaeological achievements of modern times. Lord Carnaryon, a true sportsman, played the part of gentleman in connection with disposal of the mummy of the ancient monarch. He held out strenuously against making a circus spectacle of the mortal remnant of the departed Pharaoh. He urged that a wax model of the mummy be made for exhibition and preservation, and that the real mummy be sealed up, to rest undisturbed through the ages, where the subjects of the ancient king placed his body.

Lord Carnarvon took to this archaeological exploration with the tenacity and earnestness typical of Britons. He put his soul into t e work, and it was while he was engaged in this big effort that the bite of a poisonous insect sowed in his body the seeds of death. His contribution to the science of archaeology is priceless.

A Corner in Bugs

A scientific gentleman connected with the University of Cali fornia has returned from the Marquesas and Society islands with four tropical and fighting bugs. A world absorbed in the final throes of making out its income tax returns has viewed this news item without excitement. It has even treated the matter of bugs with indifference. There is probably a well defined notion that we in California have plenty of bugs of our own. The dangers suffered by this entomologist in meeting poisonous insects while chasing bugs and scale do not move the unscientific mind as much as the Perils of Pauline or some other lady bug of the Probably no city in Southern California can show as large of proportion of homes owned by their occupants as can Santa Ana, which fact alone is worth heralding abroad as an evidence of Santa Ana's worthiness as a good place in which to live. But there are far too many of our residents who do not own their own homes. So long as we fall short of own their own homes. So long as we fall short of looper cent, the call for effort toward home-ownpants as can Santa Ana, which fact alone is worth heralding abroad as an evidence of Santa Ana's worthiness as a good place in which to live. But there are far too many of our residents who do not own their own homes. So long as we fall short of 100 per cent, the call for effort toward home-ownership be toward promulgating the idea of home-ownership be lessened.

The latest figures show that the whole world has 14,743,000 automobiles and of this number the United States has 12,364,000. That is to say, all the rest of the world together only has about one-sixth as many cars as this country.

Great Britain has 554,000 motor cars, more than any other foreign country, with Canada next. Several of our states alone have more than either or those competitors.

This is a kind of pre-eminence on which it is possible to pride ourselves too much. There are national assets more desirable than automobiles. And Thou wilt hear, While for my own Mother most dear I make this birthday prayer.

Protect her life, I pray, Who gave the gift of life to me; And may she know, From day to day,
The deepening glow

Roetgen's Discovery

Other scientists before Roentgen, among them Crookes, had for years been discharging electricity through vacuum tubes, probably producing X-rays without being aware of them. It is related that Roentgen, working with just such highly exhausted tubes, was suddenly called from his room. Still glowing, he laid one of the tubes on a book which he had been reading, in which lay a large flat, antique key used as a bookmark.
Underneath this book there chanced to be a photographic plate holder which had been prepared for the day's outing. Later on when some of these plates were developed a shadow of the antique key appeared upon the fatefull plate. Searching for the source of the invisible light which was responsible for this unique phenomenon, he restaged the scene and energized the vacuum tube as on the preceding day. The shadow again appeared on the plate, and the Roentgen ray was discovered, thenceforth to illumine the scences of medicine, physics and chemistry.

It was believed that these rays represented some new manifestation of energy. However, it has since been shown that they differ from ordinary light only in wave length. Visible light rays are measured in fifty-thousandths of an inch, but Roentgen rays are only millionth or billionth parts of an inch in wave length.
